CAIRO PEOPLE FIGHTING DEATH

Serious Break in Levee Now Will Mean Inundation of City and
Heavy Loss of Life.

WATER ABOVE TOP OF WALL

Is Kept Out by Bulkheads Made of
Sand Bags—Evansville Suburb
Flooded.

(By American Press.)

Cairo, Ill., April 4.—The Ohio river is above the levee here and the people are fighting for their lives. A break of any consequence means the inundation of the whole city and the probable drowning of hundreds, or perhaps thousands.

Bulkheads constructed of sand bags placed on top of the levee are the only things that are keeping the water out of the city. The water is seeping through in places and has flooded some of the lower sections of the city.

High wind and a heavy rain last night added to the danger. The lashing of the waves, adding strength and velocity to the current, is tearing the life out of the embankment and it can not hold out against such a savage attack many days longer.

S. E. Buckner, lieutenant in the U. S. army, has ordered fifty flat-boats constructed. They will be placed in the lower sections of the city for cases of emergency. Although the battle of the people looks hopeless, they went at it with renewed energy today.

MAKE APPEALS FOR RELIEF

(By American Press.)

Evansville, Ind., April 4.—Towns along the lower Ohio are sending out calls for relief. The appeals for aid coming from Grandview, Leavenworth, Rockport, Tell City, Cannalton, Mr. Vernon, Shawneetown, and other smaller towns are piteous.

The river continued to rise slowly here today, with stage of forty-eight and two-tenths feet at seven o'clock today. This is above the record of the disastrous flood of 1884 and there are no signs of abatement.

The Howell levee, which protected two hundred families in Ingleside near here, gave way this morning and flooded the district to the depth of from six to ten feet. No lives were lost.

BLEW UP RAILWAY STATION

(By American Press.)

London, April 4.—The suffragettes today blew up the railway station at Oxley, in Surrey. An alarm clock set for three o'clock was found in the wreckage and also a loaded revolver. Militant placards told that the explosion was the work of the women. The lavatory of the station was completely demolished, all the walls, windows, doors being damaged. The outrage is supposed to have been brought on by the sentencing of Mrs. Pankhurst to three years at hard labor.

ALMOST DOUBLE THIS YEAR.

At a meeting of the state board of printing and binding, held in the Governor's office, a report of the total expenditures for printing of the recent legislature was given the Governor and approved. The total printing bill reached $31,911.49. The 1911 session of the legislature cost $18,179.37. The recent session cost $13,723.12 more than in 1911. Of the total amount the senate spent $15,851.36 this year, against $8,328.38 two years ago, and the house spent $16,060.13 this year, and $9,850.99 two years ago.

RESCUERS SAVE HIS LIFE

Glenwood Mail Carrier Carried Down
Stream in Wagon.

Another belated story of the flood is that of the narrow escape of Charles Reed, rural mail carrier on route 28 out of Glenwood. When he drove into Little Salt Creek, he did not realize the current was so strong, and his horse and wagon were swept down the stream. He had given up hope of getting out of the wagon when Frank and Wilbur Carpenter, who chanced to be passing, came to his rescue. He was taken to a nearby home and given dry clothing. The horse and wagon were recovered.

MILLING COMPANY FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Sues Arvel Herkless For $1500,
Claiming Gravel Pit Threatens
to Destroy Mill Race.

PLAINTIFF ASKS INJUNCTION

The Rushville Milling Company has filed an injunction and damage suit against Arvel R. Herkless, demanding $1,500. The Rushville Milling Company is the owner of the mill race and the complaint states that Herkless threatens to damage the property by undermining the bank of the race at his gravel pit east of the city.

According to the complaint, the east bank of the race at the gravel pit is almost ready to cave into the pit. It is also alleged that Herkless is making preparations to drain the pond into the race and the plaintiff states that if he does the race will be filled with sand and damaged. It is alleged that the defendant has two houses along the race and that he has filled up part of the space between the houses and the race narrowing the flow of water. The plaintiff asks for a restraining order, $1500 damages and that he remove the obstructions.

HE MAY BE A FLOOD VICTIM

Wesley Lafara's Relatives Here Can
Not Hear From Him.

William Lafara, 519 East Tenth street, can not hear from his brother, Wesley Lafara, formerly of Rushville, who lived in the Dayton flood district. He wrote to the Dayton postmaster who replied today that Wesley had not been reported dead, but that the local man's letter would be delivered to the address and an effort be made to locate him. The postmaster wrote that reports had been exaggerated and that Dayton would rise a bigger and better city. Action to insure against a similar catastrophe would be taken, he said. Wesley was employed at the Weeks meat market several years. His father, Lew Lafara, lives northwest of the city, and he is a brother of Mrs. Frank Norris of Gary, formerly of Rushville.

SPECIAL JUDGE.

Judge Megee today appointed L. L. Broadus of Connersville, special judge to hear the case of Lola L. Connelly against Frank J. Hall, George Campbell, Ulric Wiley, Arthur Jones, John Osborn and Lewis Harding, to redeem property from mortgage.

Mrs. W. H. Wylie underwent an operation for the removal of the appendix at the Sexton sanatorium yesterday and her condition today is very encouraging. Mrs. Wylie has suffered from this ailment for several years and the operation was not unforeseen. She had a slight attack last Saturday, but had almost recovered when the operation was performed.

RELIEF FUND TO HELP SUFFERERS

Rushville Man Starts it at $25 and Shames Rushville People For Sitting Idly By.

DESTITUTION IN BROOKVILLE

"Even Germany is Helping," he Says,
"And we Are Snug in Our Safety."

FLOOD RELIEF FUND.

Cash .....$25 00

That is the beginning of a flood relief fund for sufferers in other cities started by a Rushville citizen. Who will help make it grow?

The fund will be in charge of the Daily Republican as treasurer and all donations should be addressed to this newspaper, either by mail or turned in at the Daily Republican office.

"Here we sit idly by and let people in an adjoining county suffer for the want of fuel to keep warm and furniture to re-establish their destroyed homes," said this Rushville man this afternoon.

"We have nothing to do at home. Our people had no trouble at all compared with those in many other cities. We are letting Connersville and Cambridge City feed the destitute people of Brookville and are not turning our hands to help them in the least.

"We should be thoroughly ashamed. I believe that we ought to help and help generously. The people of Brookville have written that they are more in need of money to buy fuel and reestablish their homes than they are of food. Too much food is a burden, rather than a help. They need money and need it bad.

"People all over the United States have heard the pleas of the suffering people and have come to their assistance. Here we are in an adjoining county and have shown no more friendly feeling than if we lived in Australia. I see that Mainz, a town in Germany, yesterday sent $10,500 for the relief flood sufferers in Indiana and Ohio."

This man cited the communication of Mrs. C. L. Masters of Brookville in the Indianapolis News. Mrs. Masters is the wife of Prof. Masters who was formerly a school teacher here. She wrote her sister, Miss Alice Harding in Indianapolis, the following: "If you know any reporter in Indianapolis, tell him Brookville needs help, money and furniture. We have no coal in town and can not get any."

Mrs. Masters asks help for others than herself. They were not sufferers. She thought the impression was broadcast that Brookville does not need more help and was trying to correct it, as far as she could, as she feels there is still great need for assistance.

The Connersville News, in discussing the conditions at Brookville, supplies proof that Brookville needs money. The News refers to the consignment of wagons of food and clothes and then adds:

By this it is not understood that Brookville's need is past. It is only supplied for the time being, and will arise again as surely as it existed after the flood. The point merely is that excessive supplies are a burden, rather than a benefit so far as the surplus is concerned. When the call for further assistance comes no doubt is felt as to what this city, and those to the north, will do. They will respond, as they have just responded.

TWO HURT IN COLLISION.

As Frank Richardson, colored, walked off the sidewalk in front of Allen's grocery store at noon today, a wheel, ridden by Maurice Nolan, ran into him. Nolan and Richardson were thrown heavily to the brick pavement and suffered severe injuries. The Nolan boy was "coasting" down the Main street hill and was going very fast.

TRACTION LINE TO RUN SATURDAY

Will Resume on This Division Tomorrow
Afternoon—Will Operate
Locals Cars.

BRIDGE IS NOW IN PLACE

C. H. & D., Forced to Give up Service—Small Wreck at Knightstown Last Evening.

The Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company announces that service on this division will be resumed Saturday afternoon. Cars will be run on the local schedule only and the service will be in operation after two o'clock. The west bound cars leave here at thirty-seven minutes after the odd hours and the east bound cars depart at forty-two minutes after the odd hours. The bridge at Morristown has been repaired and will be ready by tomorrow afternoon. This will be the first service the traction line has had since the flood and will be welcomed by this city and the small towns along the line which have been practically cut off from the world.

The first car was run over the Williams Creek fill today at noon. The flood washed the bank of the fill and this has been made safe. The line from here to Connersville is now in order and ready for traffic. Since traffic on all roads is opening up the company feels little danger from a shortage of coal and will take a chance and make an effort to get an early shipment.

After starting service yesterday the C. H. & D. was forced to call it off today and will not attempt to run trains until the bridge at Morristown is repaired. The C. H. & D. was rushing a pile driver to Morristown from Sidney, Ohio, yesterday and it was caught in the wreck on the Big Four at Knightstown. It was the intentions to start work with the pile driver on the east side of the bridge but because of the wreck this was impossible and it was sent around through Indianapolis and is now at work on the west side of the bridge. The trains yesterday were detoured over the Big Four through Shirley. This road hopes to be in operation by Monday.

Service on the Pennsylvania was extended today from Shelbyville to Columbus and the road is now operating its regular schedule between Richmond and Columbus. The road bed between Shelbyville and Columbus has been repaired. The company may start a freight service tomorrow but this is not certain.

The Big Four is again in operation, the wreck at Knightstown delaying traffic only a few hours. An engine and caboose backed off a siding into a freight train which was on the main line and the impact threw the lighter engine off the track. The damage was slight and no one was injured. The accident occurred last evening about five o'clock. It was this that held up the C. H. & D. pile driver.

OFFERS AID.

Allen Daniels, grand master of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, has received a letter from the grand lodge of New York asking if any aid for the flood victims in Indiana belonging to the order, is needed and if so they are ready to send money and clothing. Mr. Daniels does not know of any one in his jurisdiction who is in need of aid but may yet be called upon to accept the offer.

THIEVES STEAL CORN.

Mrs. Anna Merrell of near Andersonville has been missing large quantities of corn from the crib on her farm lately. She investigated and found the robbers had cut a large hole in the side of the crib which could not be seen from the house and had removed large quantities of the grain.

HELD UP IN INDIANAPOLIS

I. U. Students Leave Rushville But
Can't Reach Bloomington.

Indiana university students who came Friday before the flood to spend a few days' vacation with home folks are having some trouble in getting back to Bloomington. Most of them had prepared to leave the morning of the flood, but of course they had to postpone their trip. The opening of school was deferred until last Monday. But even this week the local students have been unable to reach school. They all left last night over the Big Four and some of their parents learned today they are stranded in Indianapolis and can't get to Bloomington. Among the Indiana students here are Miss Erema Wilk, Miss Louise Craig, Miss Louise Mauzy, Miss Marion McMillin, Perry Oneal, Louis Mauzy and Byron Cowling.

KEPT HIM FROM HIS FATHER'S FUNERAL

Floods Delayed Trains so Charles
Vance Could Not Reach Rushville From Cincinnati.

ARRIVED HERE 2 DAYS LATE

Charles Vance of Norwood, a suburb of Cincinnati, left here yesterday, expecting to return by way of Louisville after having arrived here two days late, because of the flood, to attend the funeral of his father, J. H. Vance, which was held last Sunday.

Plan as he might, he could not make connections to reach Rushville in time because of the impaired train service due to high water. He received word of his father's death last Friday morning and left home at once. He went to Louisville and then to Indianapolis. He was held up there two days because of his inability to reach Rushville.

Thinking he might get into Rushville over the Big Four, he went to Anderson, but that road was not repaired so that trains could be run through until Tuesday. He remained here a day with his mother and sisters and brother and left yesterday for home.

FRIENDLY FENCE SAVED HIS LIFE

Leroy Coon of Near Andersonville
Swept Down Stream in Buggy
and Horse is Drowned.

CURRENT AT SHALLOW FORD

Leroy Coon of the Andersonville neighborhood had a harrowing experience recently in which he almost lost his life. His horse and buggy were swept down a swollen stream his horse drowned and his life saved by a wire fence in which he lodged. He drove to a neighbor's to have some harness mended. A ford at one place he crossed was not up when he went, but on his return the current had become very swift, and since he was in a closed buggy, he did not realize the danger into which he drove. The horse's feet were swept from under it, the buggy overturned and all carried down stream. The top caught into a limb and was torn off and the boy swept into a wire fence and saved. But the horse, valued at $200 was drowned and the new buggy ruined.

The Monday Circle will be entertained by Mrs. Roy Waggener at her home in North Morgan street next week.

TAX COLLECTIONS ARE VERY POOR

County Treasurer Says They Were
Never Slower Coming in Since
He Has Been in Office.

ABOUT $200,000 ON BOOKS YET

Must be Paid at Rate of $8000 a Day
Remainder of 25 Days—Flood
Made Business Poor.

"People will have to hurry and pay their taxes," said William M. McBride, county treasurer, this morning, "else some one will be inconvenienced when the final rush comes and will have to wait. Even with an extra office force, we can wait on only so many people.

"There are more unpaid taxes now than ever was the case since I have been in office. If the collections are the same this year as they were last, and there will be very little variance—we have about two hundred thousand dollars on the books yet to be collected on the spring installment.

"I have been doing a little figuring, and compared the collections the first three months of this year with the first three months of last year. The collections for each of January, February and March of this year fell off hundreds of dollars as compared with the same months of last year, both collectively and individually.

"There are only twenty-five more taxpaying days after today. Divide that number of days by the amount to be collected, it will readily be seen that we will have to take in eight thousand dollars a day. But we will not do that much business for some time to come. For instance, we have collected very little thus far today. Wednesday, the biggest day of the week, we only received two hundred and fifty dollars. For the whole month of March less than fifteen thousand dollars was paid in taxes.

"We had scarcely any business last week because of the flood. But the roads are opened up now and it seems that people ought to be able to get to Rushville. Every day that business is poor just that much more is piled up for the rush of the final days.

"There have been some days this year we have collected as much as twenty thousand dollars, but that was when the big taxpayers came in. It takes just as much time to dispose of a man who pays a large amount of taxes as it does of a man who pays a small amount."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. J. L. Cowing this morning received word in a telephone message that Mrs. Elizabeth Cryer, aged 87 years, formerly a resident of this city, had died yesterday in Cincinnati. She is survived by a son, Harry, and a brother and sister. Mrs. Doll Green and her sister have been marooned at the Cryer home due to the flood and were there when Mrs. Cryer died.

ASKS ABOUT RUSHVILLE.

Mrs. Grace R. Caldwell, widow of the late George Caldwell, has written friends here from her home in Seattle, Wash., asking about the conditions in Rushville because of the flood. She says that western people talk of nothing else but the disaster in Indiana and Ohio and that they feel much toward the people of these two states as the Hoosier and Buckeyes did at the time of the San Francisco earthquake.

WILL BE OVER $150.

The petitions being circulated here for Clarence Dillon of Piqua, Ohio, are receiving many signers and over one hundred dollars has been subscribed. It is believed the fund will exceed $150. Petitions are in all the factories and also in the hands of Alva Newhouse and W. E. Wallace.

LAUGHLIN-SUNTRUP.

Bernard Laughlin, a well-known young man of Rush county and Miss Mary Suntrup also of that county, were united in marriage here Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, at St. Gabriels church, Father T. S. Mesker performing the ceremony, says the Connersville News. The couple was unattended and only the immediate relatives of the two were present. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white serge, with hat and gloves to correspond. She carried a huge bouquet of bride roses and presented a picture of engaging beauty. The bridegroom is a prosperous young farmer of Rush county. Miss Suntrup is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Suntrup, of north of Glenwood, and is known to many friends here and elsewhere as a beautiful and charming young lady. The two will make their future home on a farm near Falmouth. They have the congratulations of numberless friends, who wish them many years of wedded happiness.

BABY NAMED LAUREL.

Joe Brooks and family were among the flood sufferers, says the Laurel Review. They were imprisoned in the upper story of their home during the high water and on Tuesday evening were taken to the basement of the M. E. church. On Sunday evening a little mite of humanity came to them. It is an object of great interest to the kind hearted people who have been caring for the family. The little one is a girl and has been named Laurel.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

GRAY DEMOCRATS.

(Brookville American.)

It is intensely amusing to the people of the Sixth District to contemplate the efforts of the handful of progressives in the new Congress to get Finly Gray to join their organization. Nobody in the District knows him to be anything but a Democrat first and last and all between. If any one thinks that Finly is going to "throw down" the Democratic party with brother George looking for Democratic plums, he has another guess coming. All that the Grays are they owe to the Democratic party and they are not through wanting to use the party for their own benefit. If the Progressives are expecting to grow in power by such additions as the Finly Gray type, they may as well quit now.

 Exhorts People to Boil Water Until Water Supply is Assured to be Safe.
NO MATTER WHAT SOURCE IS
 The delayed mails at noon today brought a warning from the state board of health concerning water sources, which read as follows:
 "On account of the present flood conditions throughout the state, the necessity of boiling all water used for drinking purposes is most urgent. This applies equally to all public water supplies and to all wells. Health officers are requested and urged to use their utmost endeavor to impress upon the people of their communities the importance of this precaution. BOIL ALL WATER USED FOR DRINK, NO MATTER WHAT ITS SOURCE, not only while present flood conditions prevail but afterwards and until assured the water supply is safe. A wide spread outbreak and epidemic of typhoid and diarrheal diseases is sure to follow in the wake of the flood unless this precaution is strictly observed."

NEWSPAPERS' METTLE TESTED
 Daily Republican Not the Only Publication in Indiana That Was Affected by the Flood.
UNIQUE METHODS ARE USED
 One Paper, Out of Stock, Prints on Varied Colored Paper—Farm Tractor for Power.

The Daily Republican was not the only Indiana newspaper which suffered from the flood. Unlike most other industries affected, they did not suspend publication. Many novel stories are told of the means they used to give their readers a newspaper.
 The Kokomo Tribune relates that electric power was brought from as far away as Ft. Wayne, in order to make it possible to issue the Tribune and the Dispatch in Kokomo. The newspaper presses were helpless when the high water shut off the electric power company's current.
 The Dispatch's press is driven by a "direct" current motor, however, and after great difficulty a connection was made with the interurban trolley wires. For most of three days the current came from the power station at Ft. Wayne. Both the Tribune and Dispatch were in this way printed on the Dispatch press.

At Anderson a large tractor made it possible to issue the Bulletin. When the electric light plant in that city went out of commission the Bulletin publisher telephoned to the Buckeye Manufacturing Company for help. Two gasoline engine's were sent over by motor truck, these being connected with the linotype machines and the stereotyping plant.
 One of the tractors was soon backed up to the pressroom in the adjoining alley, and, by removing a window, it was possible to connect the tractor with the press by means of a twenty-foot belt. Both the Bulletin and the Herald were in that manner enabled to reach their subscribers on time.

The Frankton Critic could not get a supply of paper which had been shipped, and was compelled to issue on various lots of colored paper that could be obtained in town. A bright yellow stock made up one edition.

The Marion Leader-Tribune was really to be excused for missing an edition or two, as the water stood six feet deep in the pressroom of that paper for some time. The Tribune, however, was printed at the plant of the Chronicle as soon as the transfer could be made.

The Winchester Herald was compelled to apologize for its diminutive size because the impaired freight service made it impossible to obtain the usual "ready-prints," which are prepared in Ft. Wayne and shipped to Winchester. The Greensburg Times was also a bit short of reading matter and the closing down of the city electric light plant shut off the current which ran the Times linotype machine, and the printers had to resort to the old time method of setting type by hand.

The Logansport papers found themselves handicapped when the breaking down of the Third street bridge burst the city gas mains and shut off the supply. Gas was used to heat the metal in the linotype machines, and without molten metal no type could be cast. So the publisher of the Reporter conceived the idea of using blowpots, which were obtained from a plumbing establishment. This scheme worked so well that the blowpots were then lent to the Journal-Tribune and the Pharos, and they also were enabled to issue their papers.

The Bloomfield Democrat was cut down in size to four pages, as the plate matter usually obtained from a service in Indianapolis could not be shipped.

The Richmond Palladium found it possible to play benefactor to the Herald and Journal, of Dayton, O., and that paper is now being published in the Richmond paper's plant. A full corps of mechanics, editors and reporters are at work in Richmond, and the Dayton paper is printed there and taken to Dayton for distribution. The Herald and Journal plant was badly crippled by the flood at Dayton.

HAD VISIONS OF ANOTHER FLOOD

Excessive Rain Last Night Made People Fear Worst But Promise of Colder Weather Was Relief.

WHAT HICKSSAYS ABOUT APRIL

In March Predictions he Said Some Phenomenal Excess Would Come at Time When Floods Hit.

Rushville people fairly quaked with fear last night when the rain fell so incessantly, and in such torrents as it did. They had visions of arising this morning to see a part of the city under water as they did a certain memorable morning last week.

But there was no repetition of the flood. The weather man promised a big drop in temperature by this morning, and this served to allay the fears of the people.

The big downward slide of the mercury was not visible this morning, however. The thermometers at seven o'clock registered the same temperature, sixty degrees above zero, as they did last night at seven o'clock. Because the weather man was so insistent about the lowering of temperature, it was fully believed in some quarters that it might get colder before evening.

Parson Hicks, who is some weather prognosticator, says cold weather is coming about Sunday. "Change to much cooler, with frost in central and northern states, about the sixth to the ninth," he says. His predictions say a reactionary storm period centers on the fifth, sixth and seventh, with vicious electrical and hail storms.

"A regular storm period," says Mr. Hicks, "involves the ninth to the fourteenth having its center on the eleventh. The barometer will fall and storms of rain, wind, thunder and hail will push eastwardly across the continent on and touching the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth.

"Overwhelming cloudbursts, wild electrical manifestations, increased seismic tremors and convulsions, tornadoes and sudden revulsions to extremes of temperature, are among the characteristic things to be expected. Another change to much cooler with rising, high barometer will run its course, with frosty nights northward, on and next to the fourteenth and sixteenth.

"A reactionary storm period is central on the next three days. This calls for sudden and great increase in temperature, rapid fall of the barometer, followed by thunder storms and hail, with probability of tornadoes in regions central and southward on these dates. Cool days and nights may follow from the nineteenth to the twenty-first.

"The temperature will rise at the regular storm period covering the twenty-first to the twenty-third. Storms of wind, rain and hail, will follow and they will pass in regular, progressive order from west to east. Cooler weather will follow these.

"A reactionary storm period falls on the last three days of the month, which means the return of April thunder showers, with low barometer, and warm, stiff winds and hail storms. We venture to forecast the best general season for fruits that we have had for many years, and for seeding all kinds of crops and gardens."

Mr. Hicks had a "hunch" about the recent flood. For the period when the deluge came he said: "The combined influence of Jupiter and Venus, and Earth's Vernal Equinox, will most certainly spring some kind of phenomenal excess upon us."

The exhibit tonight will be open from 7:30 until 9 o'clock. program has been arranged and the high school orchestra will furnish the music. An effort is being made to get Jess Pugh to give a selection and several entertainers will be present.

In addition to the exhibit the following programme will be rendered during the evening:

CAIRO PEOPLE FIGHTING DEATH

Serious Break in Levee Now Will
Mean Inundation of City and
Heavy Loss of Life.

Is Kept Out by Bulkheads Made of
Sand Bags—Evansville Suburb
Flooded.

(By American Press.)

Cairo, Ill., April 4.—The Ohio river is above the levee here and the people are fighting for their lives. A break of any consequence means the inundation of the whole city and the probable drowning of hundreds, or perhaps thousands.

Bulkheads constructed of sand bags placed on top of the levee are the only things that are keeping the water out of the city. The water is seeping through in places and has flooded some of the lower sections of the city.

High wind and a heavy rain last night added to the danger. The lashing of the waves, adding strength and velocity to the current, is tearing the life out of the embankment and it can not hold out against such a savage attack many days longer.

S. E. Buckner, lieutenant in the U. S. army, has ordered fifty flat-boats constructed. They will be placed in the lower sections of the city for cases of emergency. Although the battle of the people looks hopeless, they went at it with renewed energy today.

MAKE APPEALS FOR RELIEF

(By American Press.)

Evansville, Ind., April 4.—Towns along the lower Ohio are sending out calls for relief. The appeals for aid coming from Grandview, Leavenworth, Rockport, Tell City, Cannalton, Mr. Vernon, Shawneetown, and other smaller towns are piteous.

The river continued to rise slowly here today, with stage of forty-eight and two-tenths feet at seven o'clock today. This is above the record of the disastrous flood of 1884 and there are no signs of abatement.

The Howell levee, which protected two hundred families in Ingleside near here, gave way this morning and flooded the district to the depth of from six to ten feet. No lives were lost.

BLEW UP RAILWAY STATION

(By American Press.)

London, April 4.—The suffragettes today blew up the railway station at Oxley, in Surrey. An alarm clock set for three o'clock was found in the wreckage and also a loaded revolver. Militant placards told that the explosion was the work of the women. The lavatory of the station was completely demolished, all the walls, windows, doors being damaged. The outrage is supposed to have been brought on by the sentencing of Mrs. Pankhurst to three years at hard labor.

ALMOST DOUBLE THIS YEAR.

At a meeting of the state board of printing and binding, held in the Governor's office, a report of the total expenditures for printing of the recent legislature was given the Governor and approved. The total printing bill reached $31,911.49. The 1911 session of the legislature cost $18,179.37. The recent session cost $13,723.12 more than in 1911. Of the total amount the senate spent $15,851.36 this year, against $8,328.38 two years ago, and the house spent $16,060.13 this year, and $9,850.99 two years ago.

RESCUERS SAVE HIS LIFE

Glenwood Mail Carrier Carried Down
Stream in Wagon.

Another belated story of the flood is that of the narrow escape of Charles Reed, rural mail carrier on route 28 out of Glenwood. When he drove into Little Salt Creek, he did not realize the current was so strong, and his horse and wagon were swept down the stream. He had given up hope of getting out of the wagon when Frank and Wilbur Carpenter, who chanced to be passing, came to his rescue. He was taken to a nearby home and given dry clothing. The horse and wagon were recovered.

MILLING COMPANY FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Sues Arvel Herkless For $1500,
Claiming Gravel Pit Threatens
to Destroy Mill Race.

PLAINTIFF ASKS INJUNCTION

The Rushville Milling Company has filed an injunction and damage suit against Arvel R. Herkless, demanding $1,500. The Rushville Milling Company is the owner of the mill race and the complaint states that Herkless threatens to damage the property by undermining the bank of the race at his gravel pit east of the city.

According to the complaint, the east bank of the race at the gravel pit is almost ready to cave into the pit. It is also alleged that Herkless is making preparations to drain the pond into the race and the plaintiff states that if he does the race will be filled with sand and damaged. It is alleged that the defendant has two houses along the race and that he has filled up part of the space between the houses and the race narrowing the flow of water. The plaintiff asks for a restraining order, $1500 damages and that he remove the obstructions.

HE MAY BE A FLOOD VICTIM

Wesley Lafara's Relatives Here Can
Not Hear From Him.

William Lafara, 519 East Tenth street, can not hear from his brother, Wesley Lafara, formerly of Rushville, who lived in the Dayton flood district. He wrote to the Dayton postmaster who replied today that Wesley had not been reported dead, but that the local man's letter would be delivered to the address and an effort be made to locate him. The postmaster wrote that reports had been exaggerated and that Dayton would rise a bigger and better city. Action to insure against a similar catastrophe would be taken, he said. Wesley was employed at the Weeks meat market several years. His father, Lew Lafara, lives northwest of the city, and he is a brother of Mrs. Frank Norris of Gary, formerly of Rushville.

SPECIAL JUDGE.

Judge Megee today appointed L. L. Broadus of Connersville, special judge to hear the case of Lola L. Connely against Frank J. Hall, George Campbell, Ulric Wiley, Arthur Jones, John Osborn and Lewis Harding, to redeem property from mortgage.

Mrs. W. H. Wylie underwent an operation for the removal of the appendix at the Sexton sanatorium yesterday and her condition today is very encouraging. Mrs. Wylie has suffered from this ailment for several years and the operation was not unforseen. She had a slight attack last Saturday, but had almost recovered when the operation was performed.

RELIEF FUND TO HELP SUFFERERS

Rushville Man Starts it at $25 and Shames Rushville People For Sitting Idly By.

DESTITUTION IN BROOKVILLE.

"Even Germany is Helping," he Says,
"And We Are Snug in Our Safety."

FLOOD RELIEF FUND.

Cash .....$25 00

That is the beginning of a flood relief fund for sufferers in other cities started by a Rushville citizen. Who will help make it grow?

The fund will be in charge of the Daily Republican as treasurer and all donations should be addressed to this newspaper, either by mail or turned in at the Daily Republican office.

"Here we sit idly by and let people in an adjoining county suffer for the want of fuel to keep warm and furniture to re-establish their destroyed homes," said this Rushville man this afternoon.

"We have nothing to do at home. Our people had no trouble at all compared with those in many other cities. We are letting Connersville and Cambridge City feed the destitute people of Brookville and are not turning our hands to help them in the least.

"We should be thoroughly ashamed. I believe that we ought to help and help generously. The people of Brookville have written that they are more in need of money to buy fuel and refurnish their homes than they are of food. Too much food is a burden, rather than a help. They need money and need it bad.

"People all over the United States have heard the pleas of the suffering people and have come to their assistance. Here we are in an adjoining county and have shown no more friendly feeling than if we lived in Australia. I see that Mainz, a town in Germany, yesterday sent $10,500 for the relief flood sufferers in Indiana and Ohio."

This man cited the communication of Mrs. G. L. Masters of Brookville in the Indianapolis News. Mrs. Masters is the wife of Prof. Masters who was formerly a school teacher here. She wrote her sister, Miss Alice Harding in Indianapolis, the following: "If you know any reporter in Indianapolis, tell him Brookville needs help, money and furniture. We have no coal in town and can not get any."

Mrs. Masters asks help for others than herself. They were not sufferers. She thought the impression was broadcast that Brookville does not need more help and was trying to correct it, as far as she could, as she feels there is still great need for assistance.

The Connersville News, in discussing the conditions at Brookville, supplies proof that Brookville needs money. The News refers to the consignment of wagons of food and clothes and then adds:

By this it is not understood that Brookville's need is past. It is only supplied for the time being, and will arise again as surely as it existed after the flood. The point merely is that excessive supplies are a burden, rather than a benefit so far as the surplus is concerned. When the call for further assistance comes no doubt is felt as to what this city, and those to the north, will do. They will respond, as they have just responded.

TWO HURT IN COLLISION.

As Frank Richardson, colored, walked off the sidewalk in front of Allen's grocery store at noon today, a wheel, ridden by Maurice Nolan, ran into him. Nolan and Richardson were thrown heavily to the brick pavement and suffered severe injuries. The Nolan boy was "coasting" down the Main street hill and was going very fast.

TRACTION LINE TO RUN SATURDAY

Will Resume on This Division Tomorrow
Afternoon—Will Operate
Locals Cars.

BRIDGE IS NOW IN PLACE

C. H. & D., Forced to Give up Service—Small Wreck at Knightstown Last Evening.

The Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company announces that service on this division will be resumed Saturday afternoon. Cars will be run on the local schedule only and the service will be in operation after two o'clock. The west bound cars leave here at thirty-seven minutes after the odd hours and the east bound cars depart at forty-two minutes after the odd hours. The bridge at Morristown has been repaired and will be ready by tomorrow afternoon. This will be the first service the traction line has had since the flood and will be welcomed by this city and the small towns along the line which have been practically cut off from the world.

The first car was run over the Williams Creek fill today at noon. The flood washed the bank of the fill and this has been made safe. The line from here to Connersville is now in order and ready for traffic. Since traffic on all roads is opening up the company feels little danger from a shortage of coal and will take a chance and make an effort to get an early shipment.

After starting service yesterday the C. H. & D. was forced to call it off today and will not attempt to run trains until the bridge at Morristown is repaired. The C. H. & D. was rushing a pile driver to Morristown from Sidney, Ohio, yesterday and it was caught in the wreck on the Big Four at Knightstown. It was the intentions to start work with the pile driver on the east side of the bridge but because of the wreck this was impossible and it was sent around through Indianapolis and is now at work on the west side of the bridge. The trains yesterday were detoured over the Big Four through Shirley. This road hopes to be in operation by Monday.

Service on the Pennsylvania was extended today from Shelbyville to Columbus and the road is now operating its regular schedule between Richmond and Columbus. The road bed between Shelbyville and Columbus has been repaired. The company may start a freight service tomorrow but this is not certain.

The Big Four is again in operation, the wreck at Knightstown delaying traffic only a few hours. An engine and caboose backed off a siding into a freight train which was on the main line and the impact threw the lighter engine off the track. The damage was slight and no one was injured. The accident occurred last evening about five o'clock. It was this that held up the C. H. & D. pile driver.

OFFERS AID.

Allen Daniels, grand master of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, has received a letter from the grand lodge of New York asking if any aid for the flood victims in Indiana belonging to the order, is needed and if so they are ready to send money and clothing. Mr. Daniels does not know of any one in his jurisdiction who is in need of aid but may yet be called upon to accept the offer.

THIEVES STEAL CORN.

Mrs. Anna Merrell of near Andersonville has been missing large quantities of corn from the crib on her farm lately. She investigated and found the robbers had cut a large hole in the side of the crib which could not be seen from the house and had removed large quantities of the grain.

HELD UP IN INDIANAPOLIS

I. U. Students Leave Rushville But
Can't Reach Bloomington.

Indiana university students who came Friday before the flood to spend a few days' vacation with home folks are having some trouble in getting back to Bloomington. Most of them had prepared to leave the morning of the flood, but of course they had to postpone their trip. The opening of school was deferred until last Monday. But even this week the local students have been unable to reach school. They all left last night over the Big Four and some of their parents learned today they are stranded in Indianapolis and can't get to Bloomington. Among the Indiana students here are Miss Erema Wilk, Miss Louise Craig, Miss Louise Mauzy, Miss Marion McMillin, Perry Oneal, Louis Mauzy and Byron Cowing.

KEPT HIM FROM HIS FATHER'S FUNERAL

Floods Delayed Trains so Charles
Vance Could Not Reach Rushville From Cincinnati.

ARRIVED HERE 2 DAYS LATE

Charles Vance of Norwood, a suburb of Cincinnati, left here yesterday, expecting to return by way of Louisville after having arrived here two days late, because of the flood, to attend the funeral of his father, J. H. Vance, which was held last Sunday.

Plan as he might, he could not make connections to reach Rushville in time because of the impaired train service due to high water. He received word of his father's death last Friday morning and left home at once. He went to Louisville and then to Indianapolis. He was held up there two days because of his inability to reach Rushville.

Thinking he might get into Rushville over the Big Four, he went to Anderson, but that road was not repaired so that trains could be run through until Tuesday. He remained here a day with his mother and sisters and brother and left yesterday for home.

FRIENDLY FENCE SAVED HIS LIFE

Leroy Coon of Near Andersonville
Swept Down Stream in Buggy
and Horse is Drowned.

CURRENT AT SHALLOW FORD

Leroy Coon of the Andersonville neighborhood had a harrowing experience recently in which he almost lost his life. His horse and buggy were swept down a swollen stream his horse drowned and his life saved by a wire fence in which he lodged. He drove to a neighbor's to have some harness mended. A ford at one place he crossed was not up when he went, but on his return the current had become very swift, and since he was in a closed buggy, he did not realize the danger into which he drove. The horse's feet was swept from under it, the buggy overturned and all carried down stream. The top caught into a limb and was torn off and the boy swept into a wire fence and saved. But the horse, valued at $200 was drowned and the new buggy ruined.

The Monday Circle will be entertained by Mrs. Roy Waggener at her home in North Morgan street next week.

TAX COLLECTIONS ARE VERY POOR

County Treasurer Says They Were
Never Slower Coming in Since
He Has Been in Office.

ABOUT $200,000 ON BOOKS YET

Must be Paid at Rate of $8000 a Day
Remainder of 25 Days—Flood
Made Business Poor.

"People will have to hurry and pay their taxes," said William M. McBride, county treasurer, this morning, "else some one will be inconvenienced when the final rush comes and will have to wait. Even with an extra office force, we can wait on only so many people.

"There are more unpaid taxes now than ever was the case since I have been in office. If the collections are the same this year as they were last, and there will be very little variance—we have about two hundred thousand dollars on the books yet to be collected on the spring installment.

"I have been doing a little figuring, and compared the collections the first three months of this year with the first three months of last year. The collections for each of January, February and March of this year fall off hundreds of dollars as compared with the same months of last year, both collectively and individually.

"There are only twenty-five more taxpaying days after today. Divide that number of days by the amount to be collected, it will readily be seen that we will have to take in eight thousand dollars a day. But we will not do that much business for some time to come. For instance, we have collected very little thus far today. Wednesday, the biggest day of the week, we only received two hundred and fifty dollars. For the whole month of March less than fifteen thousand dollars was paid in taxes.

"We had scarcely any business last week because of the flood. But the roads are opened up now and it seems that people ought to be able to get to Rushville. Every day that business is poor just that much more is piled up for the rush of the final days.

"There have been some days this year we have collected as much as twenty thousand dollars, but that was when the big taxpayers came in. It takes just as much time to dispose of a man who pays a large amount of taxes as it does of a man who pays a small amount."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. J. L. Cowing this morning received word in a telephone message that Mrs. Elizabeth Cryer, aged 87 years, formerly a resident of this city, had died yesterday in Cincinnati. She is survived by a son, Harry, and a brother and sister. Mrs. Doll Green and her sister have been marooned at the Cryer home due to the flood and were there when Mrs. Cryer died.

ASKS ABOUT RUSHVILLE.

Mrs. Grace R. Caldwell, widow of the late George Caldwell, has written friends here from her home in Seattle, Wash., asking about the conditions in Rushville because of the flood. She says that western people talk of nothing else but the disaster in Indiana and Ohio and that they feel much toward the people of these two states as the Hoosier and Buckeyes did at the time of the San Francisco earthquake.

WILL BE OVER $150.

The petitions being circulated here for Clarence Dillon of Piqua, Ohio, are receiving many signers and over one hundred dollars has been subscribed. It is believed the fund will exceed $150. Petitions are in all the factories and also in the hands of Alva Newhouse and W. E. Wallace.

It takes about 25000 wheat kernels to make one loaf kernel there will be 250,000 bits of dirt in the loaf of bread unless the dirt is TAKEN OUT IN THE MILL.

Still boiling the water? It won't increase the gas bill much.

letter here stating that he is looking something to do.

Surviving a Flood.

Even though there is plenty of flood news, some one has broken into print with the assertion that a woman who would wear the plummage of rare birds on their hats, ought to be put in jail, then, we presume, they would be jail birds.

Boiling hard water is said to be just as easy a task as boiling soft water, but any of it is hard enough to drink.

It is printed that the Rev. Paul Stewart intends to frame the tree to which he was lashed all night after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunting-

LAUGHLIN-SUNTRUP.

Bernard Laughlin, a well-known young man of Rush county and Miss Mary Suntrup also of that county, were united in marriage here Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, at St.
Gabriels church, Father T. S. Mesker performing the ceremony, says the Connersville News. The couple was unattended and only the immediate relatives of the two were present. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white serge, with hat and gloves to correspond. She carried a huge bouquet of bride roses and presented a picture of engaging beauty. The bridegroom is a prosperous young farmer of Rush county. Miss Suntrup is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Suntrup, of north of Glenwood, and is known to many friends here and elsewhere as a beautiful and charming young lady.
The two will make their future home on a farm near Falmouth. They have the congratulations of numberless friends, who wish them many years of wedded happiness.

—The Rev. I. P. Harbaugh and Frank Tweedy of Carthage were in Indianapolis yesterday. Charles R.
Butler also transacted business
there.

BABY NAMED LAUREL.

Joe Brooks and family were among the flood sufferers, says the Laurel Review. They were imprisoned in the upper story of their home during the high water and on Tuesday evening were taken to the basement of the M. E. church. On Sunday evening a little mite of humanity came to them. It is an object of great interest to the kind hearted people who have been caring for the family. The little one is a girl and has been named Laurel.

GRAY DEMOCRATS.

(Brookville American.)

It is intensely amusing to the people of the Sixth District to contemplate the efforts of the handful of progressives in the new Congress to get Finly Gray to join their organization. Nobody in the District knows him to be anything but a Democrat first and last and all between. If any one thinks that Finly is going to "throw down" the Democratic party with brother George looking for Democratic plums, he has another guess coming. All that the Grays are they owe to the Democratic party and they are not through wanting to use the party for their own benefit. If the Progressives are expecting to grow in power by such additions as the Finly Gray type, they may as well quit now.

Exhorts People to Boil Water Until Water Supply is Assured to be Safe.

NO MATTER WHAT SOURCE IS

The delayed mails at noon today brought a warning from the state board of health concerning water sources, which read as follows:

"On account of the present flood conditions throughout the state, the necessity of boiling all water used for drinking purposes is most urgent. This applies equally to all public water supplies and to all wells. Health officers are requested and urged to use their utmost endeavor to impress upon the people of their communities the importance of this precaution. BOIL ALL WATER USED FOR DRINK. NO MATTER WHAT ITS SOURCE, not only while present flood conditions prevail but afterwards and until assured the water supply is safe. A wide spread outbreak and epidemic of typhoid and diarrheal diseases is sure to follow in the wake of the flood unless this precaution is strictly observed."

NEWSPAPERS' METTLE TESTED

Daily Republican Not the Only Publication in Indiana That Was Affected by the Flood.

UNIQUE METHODS ARE USED

One Paper, Out of Stock, Prints on Varied Colored Paper—Farm Tractor for Power.

The Daily Republican was not the only Indiana newspaper which suffered from the flood. Unlike most other industries affected, they did not suspend publication. Many novel stories are told of the means they used to give their readers a newspaper.

The Kokomo Tribune relates that electric power was brought from as far away as Ft. Wayne, in order to make it possible to issue the Tribune and the Dispatch in Kokomo. The newspaper presses were helpless when the high water shut off the electric power company's current.

The Dispatch's press is driven by a "direct" current motor, however, and after great difficulty a connection was made with the interurban trolley wires. For most of three days the current came from the power station at Ft. Wayne. Both the Tribune and Dispatch were in this way printed on the Dispatch press.

At Anderson a large tractor made it possible to issue the Bulletin. When the electric light plant in that city went out of commission the Bulletin publisher telephoned to the Buckeye Manufacturing Company for help. Two gasoline engine's were sent over by motor truck, these being connected with the linotype machines and the stereotyping plant.

One of the tractors was soon backed up to the pressroom in the adjoining alley, and, by removing a window, it was possible to connect the tractor with the press by means of a twenty-foot belt. Both the Bulletin and the Herald were in that manner enabled to reach their subscribers on time.

The Frankton Critic could not get a supply of paper which had been shipped, and was compelled to issue on various lots of colored paper that could be obtained in town. A bright yellow stock made up one edition.

The Marion Leader-Tribune was really to be excused for missing an edition or two, as the water stood six feet deep in the pressroom of that paper for some time. The Tribune, however, was printed at the plant of the Chronicle as soon as the transfer could be made.

The Winchester Herald was compelled to apologize for its diminutive size because the impaired freight service made it impossible to obtain the usual "ready-prints," which are prepared in Ft. Wayne and shipped to Winchester. The Greensburg Times was also a bit short of reading matter and the closing down of the city electric light plant shut off the current which ran the Times linotype machine, and the printers had to resort to the old time method of setting type by hand.

The Logansport papers found themselves handicapped when the breaking down of the Third street bridge burst the city gas mains and shut off the supply. Gas was used to heat the metal in the linotype machines, and without molten metal no type could be cast. So the publisher of the Reporter conceived the idea of using blowpots, which were obtained from a plumbing establishment. This scheme worked so well that the blowpots were then lent to the Journal-Tribune and the Pharos, and they also were enabled to issue their papers.

The Bloomfield Democrat was cut down in size to four pages, as the plate matter usually obtained from a service in Indianapolis could not be shipped.

The Richmond Palladium found it possible to play benefactor to the Herald and Journal, of Dayton, O., and that paper is now being published in the Richmond paper's plant. A full corps of mechanics, editors and reporters are at work in Richmond, and the Dayton paper is printed there and taken to Dayton for distribution. The Herald and Journal plant was badly crippled by the flood at Dayton.

HAD VISIONS OF ANOTHER FLOOD

Excessive Rain Last Night Made People Fear Worst But Promise of Colder Weather Was Relief.

WHAT HICKSAYS ABOUT APRIL

In March Predictions he Said Some Phenomenal Excess Would Come at Time When Floods Hit.

Rushville people fairly quaked with fear last night when the rain fell so incessantly, and in such torrents as it did. They had visions of arising this morning to see a part of the city under water as they did a certain memorable morning last week.

But there was no repetition of the flood. The weather man promised a big drop in temperature by this morning, and this served to allay the fears of the people.

The big downward slide of the mercury was not visible this morning, however. The thermometers at seven o'clock registered the same temperature, sixty degrees above zero, as they did last night at seven o'clock. Because the weather man was so insistent about the lowering of temperature, it was fully believed in some quarters that it might get colder before evening.

Parson Hicks, who is some weather prognosticator, says cold weather is coming about Sunday. "Change to much cooler, with frost in central and northern states, about the sixth to the ninth," he says. His predictions say a reactionary storm period centers on the fifth, sixth and seventh, with vicious electrical and hail storms.

"A regular storm period," says Mr. Hicks, "involves the ninth to the fourteenth having its center on the eleventh. The barometer will fall and storms of rain, wind, thunder and hail will push eastwardly across the continent on and touching the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth."

"Overwhelming cloudbursts, wild electrical manifestations, increased seismic tremors and convulsions, tornadoes and sudden revulsions to extremes of temperature, are among the characteristic things to be expected. Another change to much cooler, with rising, high barometer will run its course, with frosty nights northward, on and next to the fourteenth and sixteenth."

"A reactionary storm period is central on the next three days. This calls for sudden and great increase in temperature, rapid fall of the barometer, followed by thunder storms and hail, with probability of tornadoes in regions central and southward on these dates. Cool days and nights may follow from the nineteenth to the twenty-first."

"The temperature will rise at the regular storm period covering the twenty-first to the twenty-third. Storms of wind, rain and hail, will follow and they will pass in regular, progressive order from west to east. Cooler weather will follow these."

"A reactionary storm period falls on the last three days of the month, which means the return of April thunder showers, with low barometer, and warm, stiff winds and hail storms. We venture to forecast the best general season for fruits that we have had for many years, also for seeding all kinds of crops and gardens."

Mr. Hicks had a "hunch" about the recent flood. For the period when the deluge came he said: "The combined influence of Jupiter and Venus, and Earth's Vernal Equinox, will most certainly spring some kind of phenomenal excess upon us."

The proceeds from the exhibit will be used in buying pictures for the school rooms and the pupils have worked hard to make it a success.

The exhibit tonight will be open from 7:30 until 9 o'clock. program has been arranged and the high school orchestra will furnish the music. An effort is being made to get Jess Pugh to give a selection and several entertainers will be present.

In addition to the exhibit the following programme will be rendered during the evening:
Solo—Miss Scott.
Piano Solo—Jessie Kitchen.
Violin Solo—Elizabeth Tevis.

Huntingtons Refuse to Live so Close to River.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huntington, who narrowly escaped during the recent high waters and who were rescued after many trying experiences on the part of several Milroy men, have moved to Moscow, refusing to live so near the river. The aged couple had such a close escape that they do not feel like taking the chance again and are superstitious as to living in the house. The dam near Milroy which gave way is being repaired.
